Session on “Wealth Creation through Technical Analysis”

B.V. Patel Institute of Management had arranged a session on Technical Analysis for TYBBA finance specialization students. The speaker of the session was Mr. Rohan Desai, the founder and technical analyst of “Triumph Capital”.

The speaker started with the introduction of the stock market risk factors sharing his own experience during the start of his career. Then the concept of fundamental analysis and technical analysis was cleared among the students. Coming to technical analysis, the types of charts i.e. bar chart, line chart and candlestick chart were discussed. Several strategies viz., RSI, Corner Signal, Top Signal, etc. for analyzing the graphs and taking buying or selling decisions of shares were taught. The session gave a real picture for stock market trading and investing rather than simply following or applying theoretical concepts without updating to the changing trends. The session was much worthy for the students for trend analysis as well as gave confidence to trade shares in the stock market.

He also give useful insight about investing in stock market such as how monitoring of stock market is important, how can you get the signal?, Which combination of tools you can use for confirmation of signals etc.

The speaker gave many examples of different companies that could be invested in or disinvested in. It cleared several approaches and rules for technical analysis. The session added knowledge, skills and value to the academic syllabus together with the practical learning, which can be added up to their further career.

The students shown key interest and participated with full involvement. This session was ended with Q & A sessions. Finally student gets useful insight by attending the session.
