The "International Women's Day" celebration on March 8, 2024, at Manjula Hall, UTU, brought together female faculty and students in a resounding success. Distinguished chief guest Dr. Gaurang Vyas from Mamta Hospital, Bardoli, graced the event, sharing insightful experiences and expertise. His speech on cervical cancer awareness and the importance of regular screenings left attendees inspired to prioritize their health. Dr. Vyas emphasized the significance of early detection and adopting healthy lifestyles to reduce cancer risks, particularly focusing on preventive measures such as Pap tests for cervical cancer. His address underscored the importance of early detection and limiting risk factors, resonating with the audience and fostering a sense of unity and empowerment among attendees.

The collaborative efforts of the Women Cell and C.A.S.H committee of UTU along with JCI Bardoli, contributed significantly to the event's success. Their dedication and organization created an empowering atmosphere, encouraging women to take charge of their health and prioritize cancer prevention.
